Funding Sources For NWOET Contracts

It is important to remember that in order to receive the professional development funds from Ohio eTech this year, the schools must designate how they will use their professional development funds for this year AND the 2008-2009 school year. You may want to take advantage of the two (2) year special NWOET service contract — service through 2009 at the 2006 price. The Professional Development funds from Ohio eTech can fully pay for all services received from NWOET.*

Services include:

- Free professional development in every building
- Unlimited use of media with postage paid
- Discounts up to 50% on many events

Plan To Attend NWOET Technology Conference!

Technology and Differentiation: Implementation into the Classroom
October 12, 2007, at Margaretta High School in Castalia, Ohio

Mark it on your calendar today! Come by yourself, bring a team of teachers from your district or your whole staff. You won't want to miss this year's conference as we focus on ways technology can be used to help differentiate instruction. We welcome back again this year nationally recognized speaker Meg Ormiston as our keynote speaker. Meg will talk about how technology can help differentiate instruction and give many practical strategies to take back and engage students in new and powerful ways. Whiteboards, podcasts, blogs and video are just some of the tools she will be showing. To help you select which presentation sessions to attend, we have organized them into the following six strands; administrative, interactive whiteboards, special education classroom integration, technology data tools, and "other." The list of presentation sessions is not complete, but some of the session titles are listed below.

Featured strand: Whiteboards for Instruction

- Effective Ways to Use Interactive Whiteboards in the Classroom
- Digital Cameras in the Classroom
- What is Web 2.0 and How It Can Enhance Learning
- Using Video in the Classroom
- PowerPoint Paradise
- Digital Scrapbooking with Scrapbook Flair – A Free Download
- The Ohio Social Studies Resource Center: Identifying Educational Resources for the Social Studies Classroom
- Multimedia Curriculum in the Middle School
- Initial Training to Full Integration of SMART Boards
- Funtastic Math Lessons for K-12 Students
- Location, location, location ... using GPS devices and Geocaching to "Find Yourself"
- Communicating through Podcasting

For more information and to register, go to our Web site (www.nwoet.org) and click on the conference link. There is also a registration form on the back of this issue of Scanner which you may fill out and mail to 245 Troup Ave., Bowling Green, Ohio 43403.

ATTENTION School Library Media Specialists

By Pat McCauley,
mccauley@nwoet.org

OELMA has started an important project with wide-reaching ramifications for Ohio's school librarians. We are currently conducting a state-wide research survey that has two goals: to collect library-specific data for each Ohio public school district; and to gather contact information for each certified librarian. This survey, once completed, will be a powerful tool for determining which school districts are being served by certificated school librarians and which are not. Prolific and consistent research reports indicate that school libraries run by certificated professionals help improve students' academic achievement.

If you are willing to participate in the OELMA LMS Survey project, please contact Pat McCauley at 800-966-9638 or mccauley@nwoet.org.

Social Studies Alignment Workshop Coming To A Site Near You!

For Social Studies Teachers And School Librarians

INFOhio, in cooperation with the Northwest Ohio Educational Technology Foundation (NWOET), is offering a one day Social Studies Alignment Workshop for both social studies teachers and school librarians at six sites around the state during the first two weeks of October.

Purpose of workshop:

- To apply standardized criteria to align school library resources to grade level indicators
- To understand grade level indicators as they relate to the benchmarks
- To retrieve aligned resources locally and via the INFOhio Curriculum Resource Catalog
- To create the catalog record to retrieve aligned resources (librarians only)

Open to:

- K-12 social studies teachers and librarians (A district must be represented by at least one teacher and one librarian.)
- Preference will be given to INFOhio automated schools. NON-INFOhio automated schools are welcome but assistance with access to local library automation system will not be available.

Agenda:

- Practice using the INFOhio rubric for aligning resources; includes resources provided for instruction and those brought by workshop participants
- Practice locating, completing and submitting the online Alignment Form
- Practice retrieving resources via the INFOhio Curriculum Resource Catalog
- (Librarian only afternoon session) Practice creating or editing catalog records for the description and retrieval of aligned resources; Librarians may work in their own database or a practice database

Credit:

- One hour Bowling Green graduate credit available for $331 plus additional work as arranged
- Contact hours certificates will be provided to those not selecting graduate credit.

Cost:

- $150 per participant includes, two facilitators, binder of all workshop materials, morning coffee and rolls, box lunch, and afternoon snack

Hours:

EDTL 612 Classroom Technology for Teachers

The focus of this course is to provide practical experiences with the implementation of a variety of technology skills for the educator at the beginning level of technical ability. Classroom integration strategies using productivity tools – word processing, spreadsheet and presentation software – will be introduced. Throughout the course, participants will develop skills in the use of Internet, digital resources and other new classroom technologies. Prerequisite: None.

EDTL 682 Technology and Differentiation: Implementation in the Classroom

Attend the 2007 NWOET Technology Conference, plus two additional evening sessions, and complete a related class project – all at Margareta High School – to earn one semester hour graduate credit. The focus of this class is how instruction can be differentiated to help meet the needs of the learner, and how technology can help deliver instruction in powerful new ways. Participants will learn how to support struggling readers as they construct meaning by creating a video, or activate prior knowledge for all students by streaming video before, during, or after a lesson.

SMART Board Sessions

NWOET will be offering individual, six-hour sessions on Fridays throughout the fall and a more intense 15-hour training series held over a period of five evenings. This series will have a graduate credit option (1 semester hour) for attendance at all five sessions and completion of an assignment. More detailed descriptions of each session are on the next page.

Social Studies Alignment for Librarians & Social Studies Teachers (pending)

See page 3 for more information.

EDTL 682. Effective Standards-based Teaching: Focus on Literacy 7-12 (pending)

This Web-based course is designed with the special needs educator in mind to help address the unique literacy needs of 7-12 grade learners by promoting and supporting effective, research-based practices for classroom instruction in middle and secondary schools.

EDTL 682. Digital Photography in the K-12 Classroom

Digital cameras have extensive uses and often motivate educators to integrate technology effectively in their curriculum. This introductory course is intended to provide participants with a secure knowledge of basic digital camera operation, as well as introduce them to effective methods for curriculum integration. The use of photo editing in this training will provide an avenue for the manipulation of digital images. Prerequisite: None

EDTL 682. Utilizing Media & Web Resources for Information Specialists

Topics include citing and copyright issues when using Web resources, INFOhio resources & databank collections, alignment of media resources to the new Ohio Academic Content Standards, ODE's IMS, Ohio Resource Center, validity and evaluation of Web resources.

EDTL 682 Using the Interactive Whiteboard to Increase Student Learning

Participants will learn how to utilize a SMART Board interactive whiteboard to transform a variety of activities in their classrooms into dynamic learning experiences. Interactive whiteboards are ranked #1 in the world because of their interactivity, flexibility, and ease of use. Teachers will learn how they can help improve attention, retention and test scores in their classrooms by making computer usage an interactive and collaborative experience.

Upcoming Professional Development Focuses On Interactive Whiteboards

“My students absolutely LOVE to use the SMART Board,” commented one teacher recently who attended one of the five NWOET interactive whiteboard trainings this past summer. She was attending to learn a bigger variety of strategies with the SMART Board to use with her students this school year.

Are you a power SMART Board user who wants to learn new strategies with this technology tool? Or are you just eager to learn what the fuss and hype is all about? This fall, by request, we planned additional trainings on interactive whiteboard technologies. NWOET will be offering individual, six-hour sessions on Fridays throughout the fall and a more intense 15-hour training series held over a period of five evenings starting November 8. This series will have a graduate credit option (1 semester hour) for attendance at all five evenings and completion of an assignment. NWOET and WGTE members fee for each six-hour training is $79. Prices for the five-week series can be found on the fall professional development table on page 4. There is a limit of 12 for these hands-on trainings.

SMART Board Basics

NWOET Tech Lab

8:30 a.m.- 3:00 p.m.

Friday, September 28, 2007

This training is for the educator who has just received or will soon be getting a SMART Board brand of interactive whiteboard and wants to become comfortable with using it as more than a presentation tool.

There'll be plenty of hands-on experience with Mac and Windows computers and the SMART Board. A light lunch will be included.

The SMART Board vs. the mimio

NWOET Tech Lab

8:30 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.

Friday, October 26, 2007

This professional development opportunity will give participants hands-on experience with both of these leading interactive whiteboard systems. Instructors from NWOET will review the strengths of each system so administrators and teachers can become more knowledgeable about this new technology tool and help them to decide which might better match their needs. A light lunch will be included.

Taking the SMART Board to the Next Level

NWOET Tech Lab

8:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Friday, November 2, 2007

Intermediate and advanced users will learn strategies to take learning to a higher level with the use of the tools available in the SMART Board software, including novel ways to engage students in learning through use of the interactive whiteboard. Participants will gain experience in SMART Board lesson design to promote for higher level thinking skills with their students. A light lunch will be included.

Teaching Strategies with the SMART Board

Wood County ESC

8:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Friday, November 9, 2007

The focus of this training is to help users who are comfortable with the basics of using the SMART Board as a presentation tool to augment their instruction with a variety of creative teaching strategies that make use of the advanced features of the SMART Board – recorder, video player, links, sounds, etc. Lunch will NOT be provided with this training.

Interactive Whiteboards? What's All the Excitement About?

Wood County ESC

8:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Friday, November 16, 2007

All districts have goals to increase students learning and achievement and many have found use of interactive whiteboards help motivate and engage students, and this new technology in turn, has helped to reach these goals. NWOET staff will spend time demonstrating how SMART Boards are being used as a tool through grades K-12 to excite students about their learning. Time will be given for hands-on practice on the mimio and SMART Board interactive whiteboard systems as well as a brief introduction to the basics of each. This training is meant for those who are considering future purchase of the interactive whiteboard equipment. Lunch will NOT be provided with this training.

SMART Board Basics

NWOET Tech Lab

8:30 a.m.- 3:00 p.m.

Friday, November 30, 2007

See description above for September 28 training.

EDTL 682. Using the Interactive Whiteboard to Increase Student Learning

NWOET Tech Lab

Thursdays, 4:30 - 7:30 p.m.

November 8 - December 13, 2007 (No class on November 22)

Participants will learn how to utilize a SMART Board interactive whiteboard to transform a variety of activities in their classrooms into dynamic learning experiences. Interactive whiteboards are ranked #1 in the world because of their interactivity, flexibility, and ease of use. Teachers will learn how they can help improve attention, retention and test scores in their classrooms by making computer usage an interactive and collaborative experience. Light refreshments will be served.

We Have A Winner!

Diana Diels from Bettsville Elementary won a digital camera in the drawing sponsored by the Northwest Ohio Media Center. It does pay to fill out the forms that accompany each item from the media center. We will again have two drawings for prizes for the 07-08 school year, one in January and May. Please consider completing the forms.

Media News

By Phyllis Hartwell, hartwell@nwoet.org

Over the summer, the Northwest Media Center acquired the resource materials from the Northwest Ohio Special Education Regional Resource Center (SERRC), now named School Support Team (SST). These materials will soon be online for ordering. Until all the items are entered into our booking system, please call us at 800-966-9638 to request items.

We continually attempt to keep our collection up-to-date. If you have any recommendations for items to be purchased by the media center, please let us know. We are purchasing most of the new items on DVD; however, you can still request video.

If anyone would like one of our catalogs on CD, please let us know. We can send as many as needed.
